Christmas Cheer in Waveland

The employees at Waveland's City Hall hosted a friendly competition in an effort to the fill the halls with Christmas cheer.

The idea was the brain child of administrative assistant Hannah McRaney. The decorating contest was between the upstairs and downstairs employees.

The employees upstairs included Katherine Corr in purchasing and accounts payable; McRaney, Jeanne Conrad in building and zoning; and Makesi Willis in the building and zoning department. The upstairs crew chose the theme of "Candyland." The halls are decorated with a candy cane forest, gum drop pass, snowflake lake, and lollipop woods.

At the top of the stairs is a Christmas tree with cutouts from the game Candyland, which also includes pictures of the downstairs employees.

Upon entering city hall's downstairs entrance, guests were greeted with a familiar Christmas figure, the Grinch.

Signs in the hallway directed guests to Whoville, Grinch's Lane (which was upstairs), and Mount Crumpit.

Atop a table was a television playing "How the Grinch Stole Christmas." The table also featured a stuffed animal in the shape of the Grinch, drink.

‘The city has a blight problem’: Waveland leaders host second meeting with design group for Hwy. 90 corridor; learns actions the city can take now

BY CASSANDRA FAVRE
STAFF WRITER

The Waveland Board of Mayor and Aldermen on Thursday hosted its second meeting with Orion Planning + Design to discuss the plan to improve the Hwy. 90 corridor into an “attractive, resilient, economically viable corridor.”

The city hosted its first meeting with the city on Dec. 13.

Bob Barber with Orion said that the team is completing a factual study of the area, which includes engaging members of the community as much as possible.

Barber said Orion then will design a plan and an implementation program.

The center of the corridor is the intersection of Hwy. 603 and Hwy. 90 and the boundary extends to Bay St. Louis on the east side and to Waveland-Kiln Cutoff road on the west side, Barber said.

The corridor contains about 250 acres and two-and-a-half miles from west to east, he added, and is “overwhelmingly” designated as commercial use.

Barber said that there is about 1.2 million square feet of building space in the corridor, which is equal to about five or six Walmarts. About 700,000 square feet or 58 percent of the corridor is devoted to retail sales.

There are vacancies in the corridor and some of the key vacancies are at the intersection of Hwy. 603 and Hwy. 90, Barber said.

There are about 24,000 cars per day in the corridor, he said.

“It’s a busy corridor, it’s not impaired in terms of traffic flow,” Barber said.

He described four key themes in the Hwy. 90 corridor strategy: Clean it up; connect it; catalyze it or make sure there are focal point projects that generate positive activity; and cultivate it, which deals with landscaping, etc.

Barber said the framework plans include three “key” elements: Identity enhancement, mobility, and redevelopment.

Orion’s Allison Mouch spoke about the corridor’s “low-hanging fruit” and steps the city could take now.

She began with “identity enhancements.”

“Waveland has an identity,” she said. “But we also know that you only have one opportunity to make a good first impression. A couple of things we heard from the survey is that you don’t know when you’re entering from east or west, necessarily, where Waveland starts.”

She said that establishing “gateways” would help indicate to visitors and residents that they are entering Waveland.

Mouch said that the city has a “blight problem.”

“Part of that is not just buildings, but it’s also abandoned or partially-abandoned signs,” she said. “That was a pretty evident physical quality and characteristic of the corridor. Knowing that you have a development code, a zoning ordinance, design guidelines in place that are intended to prevent this and intended to prevent ideally what’s going on with your structures. We decided ground truth.”

Mouch said the team looked at every piece of property that is accessible from the corridor to determine if the parking lots met the standards in place or if it included an abandoned sign.

“We were only looking at free-standing signs, no signs on building,” she said. “Of free-standing signs, you’ve got roughly 150 in the corridor. Of those 150 signs, 50 of them are temporary signs, flags, things that are just in

OLA students share the Christmas spirit with Dunbar Village residents

SEA COAST ECHO

Our Lady Academy Campus Ministry helped Dunbar Village kick off their 12 days of Christmas celebration by caroling with the residents. The highlight of the event was Sophie Talazac’s solo performance of the most famous Christmas melody, “Silent Night”. Every year, members of Our Lady Academy volleyball team spend time Christmas caroling to the Dunbar Village residents. This year was no different as the team visited and sang Christmas carols to the residents.

MKOTSH donates to Millie’s Movement

Mystic Krewe of the Seahorse donated $500.00 to Millie’s Movement. “Millie’s Movement” began five years ago, when seven year old Millie Brignone organized her own non-profit to collect donations for children in need. She wanted to give back to kids in need so she began making and selling bracelets. When the orders exceeded her ability to make them, people just began giving to the cause, until her father suggested ordering pre-stamped bands off the internet. Now, Millie has reached nearly $75,000 in donations. With the donations, Millie and her family go out and buy toys which are then donated to charities Toys for Tots and other local charities. In addition to the donation from the Krewe, members brought numerous toys to the December member meeting sponsored by Dan B’s restaurant.

“It’s so nice to have the celebration back here at the courthouse,” Hancock Circuit Clerk Kendra Necaie said Friday. “It almost seems like old times.”

On Thursday, the city of Bay St. Louis and Mayor Mike Favre welcomed the entire community to city hall for the annual Bay St. Louis Christmas Open House.

The rain on Saturday postponed the first annual Coleman Avenue Street Fair, but organizers rallied and enjoyed a huge turn-out for the event on Sunday, raising more than $1,600 for the Friends of the Animal Shelter in Hancock County’s Spay and Neuter program.

Dozens of vendors offered arts, crafts, boutique clothing, and fresh produce of vegetables, fruits and nuts, homemade jellies and jams, custom made jewelry, baked goods, hand poured candles, chocolate goodies, and much more.

Also on Sunday, the Hancock County M.A.P. (Music, Arts and Practicality) kids presented the Christmas Play, “Everyone’s Christmas Story,” by Kara Wilkins, at St. Rose de Lima Catholic Church in Bay St. Louis.

While most of the Christmas parades have already rolled this season, the holidays aren’t over yet. There are

Meaningful requests

Every year the Echo sends out blank “Dear Santa” forms to local schools for elementary students to fill out.

As I’ve said before, I find that perpetuating the myth of Santa Claus to be an annoyance. I also find it absolutely distasteful when parents shame educators and/or parents who tell children the truth or do not practice the tradition of Santa at home.

Shaming people for not lying. I mean, no wonder hundreds of people showed up in Dallas, Texas awaiting the return from the dead of John F. Kennedy, Jr. People are trained to believe the mythical is real from an early age.

But, I digress.

Each year I get to read through the letters and our staff members choose their favorites for the print edition.

I’m always looking for the diamond in the rough. The children who don’t just ask for expensive material items.

And to my delight, I found a few that I am eager to share with you, dear reader. Fun fact: This year, quite a few students also asked for a baby brother or sister.

This year’s “Dear Santa” also included a line where children could share some of the nice things they have done this year.

Raylee, 8, from East Hancock Elementary said that she said “sorry to my mom,” and “thank you.”

And her wish list included: “To be healed; to be nice; to be helpful; and to be sweet.”

Jaylen, 8, also from East Hancock Elementary, was quite honest and said she had been both good and bad this year.

Some of the nice things she did this year included “help my mom do the dishes and clean my room.”

Her wish list included: “My brother comes back and for people to donate money to charity.”

Carlie, 9, from East Hancock Elementary said that this year she “helped my brother do a cartwheel and helped my brother do a handstand.”

Her wish list included: “I want a clean Earth because it helps the animals stay healthy; I wish the Earth was clean for the animals; I wish my brother knew how to do a cartwheel; and I wish my brother knew how to do a handstand.”

Eight-year-old Will from East Hancock Elementary said he cleaned and set the table this year.

His wish list includes “clean water, clean air, better world, and clean oceans.”

Hancock History: Honky-Tonk Watering Holes

Alton Adolph “Dolph” Kellar (1919-1997) and his younger sister, Irma Kellar Frierson (b. 1930) were reared on a small farm in Santa Rosa. Their parents were Columbus Clinton “Lumbia” Kellar (1884-1964) and Lola Cleo Alsobrooks (1896-1990). Their respective families had migrated from North Carolina in the mid-nineteenth century. Irma Kellar Frierson was born in 1930 in a railroad boxcar converted as a worker family dwelling in the Weston Gravel Pit. However, Lumbia and Lola later bought a small farm in Tigerville which was called Santa Rosa at this time. There was a small grist mill on the property to which the townspeople took corn and sugar cane to be ground into meal or syrup. As a result four generations of Kellar family members later owned property in this area.

Irma started school at the Aaron Academy in Santa Rosa which was the local public school built by the Works Progress Administration (WPA) in 1934. The school offered grades one through eight. Irma then went to Picayune for high school. After graduation she received technical training in accounting and worked for Crosby Dairy Products. Subsequently, she started her own City Insurance Agency in Picayune. Irma married T.J. Frierson (1927-2012) who was a supervisor with the International Paper Company. He fought in the Korean War.

Dolph Kellar married Beulah Frierson (1929-2010), the sister of Irma’s husband T.J. Frierson. They raised a small herd of thirty cattle, fifty sheep, a flock of chickens, and about fifty hogs on one hundred acres which was ninety-five percent forest and five percent pasture. In those days farmers raised most of their own food but bought coffee and sugar from the general store. Dolph served in the US Army for five years in World War II. He saw combat in New Guinea and was wounded twice and decorated. While serving in the Pacific Theater, Dolph determined that if he survived the war, he would return home and go into public service to improve the backward status of Hancock County.

The Kellar Family from Santa Rosa has played an important role in Hancock County politics providing three generations of service to their community. Irma’s uncle, Thomas Edward “Ed” Kellar, was sworn in as Sheriff of Hancock County in 1932. Ed Kellar maintained law and order, especially in the town of Santa Rosa, even though it was on the periphery of the county. Ed had previously served as Superintendent of Education of Hancock County from 1924 to 1931. He served as a role model for future Kellar men who would serve their community with distinc-

Managing for Antler Production: Part 1

The most effective approach to any deer management problem is to identify the biological and social factors that are limiting fulfillment of management goals. These limiting factors should be ranked in order of importance and addressed with management actions, emphasizing the most important limiting factors. Reliance on manipulation of any one limiting factor to increase the prevalence of larger antlered bucks, without understanding its relationship to other important factors dooms many efforts to frustration, if not failure. Antler production is clearly regulated by age, nutrition, and genetics. The solution to most antler production management problems usually incorporates all three factors, with an emphasis on age and nutrition.

The goal of this series of articles is to clarify the basic influences of age, nutrition and genetics on antler development and then discuss how

Guest Column

By James Cummins

these simple biological principles may interact in the ultimate expression of management success on your property. The outcome should be an appreciation for the fact that significantly improved antler development is the result of coordinated management decisions which integrate a thorough understanding of biological principles adjusted to local conditions.

In this first part of the series, we will look at how age factors in. The first set of antlers typically are grown at 1.5 years of age. However, in Mississippi up to 20 to 30% of buck fawns may develop hardened antlers (usually only hardened buttons) at about 8 months of age. This phenomenon is not usually seen by hunters because it happens after the hunting season. In these cases, nutrition is adequate enough and birth dates are early enough to allow fawns to reach the critical body mass needed to initiate antler growth.

Antler size increases annually, in sometimes dramatic fashion, until maximum antler development is reached at about 5 to 7 years of age. Based on averages of 23 bucks measured through 7 years of age in a Mississippi State University (MSU) study, one-year old bucks grew the equivalent of about 26% of their ultimate maximum gross Boone and Crockett score. The percentage increased each year, to about 63% at 2 years, 77% at 3 years, and 92% at 4 years of age. Using antler weight as a measure of antler size tells a similar story, although with different values. Antler weights were 10% at 1 year, 44% at 2 years, 71% at 3 years, and 80% at 4 years of age. These particular animals developed maximum antler size at 5 years of age, but many do not reach full potential until 6 or 7 years. Bucks consuming less than optimal forage quality would be expected to reach their maximum antler size at an older age and would be more susceptible to annual variation in forage quality.

In the next installment we will see how nutrition can affect antler growth.

Trace, 8, is a student at Holy Trinity Catholic School who helped classmates and listened to mom this year.

Trace’s wish list includes, “spending time with family; for everyone who is sick to feel better; and for everyone to have a Merry Christmas.”

Finally, and perhaps the entry that touched my heart the most — certainly made me cry the most — was penned by eight-year-old Emma from Holy Trinity.

Some of the nice things Emma said she did this year were being respectful, helpful, and caring.

The first entry on her wish list is “my daddy back, he died when I was two.”

As someone who is very close to her daddy and has nearly lost him several times, I can definitely relate a tiny bit to Emma.

However, I can’t imagine not growing up with my dad. But gathering from her entry, I feel that Emma must come from a strong and loving family. One that keeps the memory of her departed father alive so his daughter won’t forget him.

It breaks my heart when I hear of children asking Santa Claus to bring back a departed loved one, as no one can do that. Again, why do we continue to perpetuate this mythical creature? (No, I’m not talking about St. Nicholas who was a real person, but the jolly man in a red suit who manages to travel the whole globe in one night breaking into people’s homes to deliver toys).

For many, many years, I had the same wish as Emma. I wanted my daddy back. For years, the agony of kidney failure and dialysis made him unrecognizable, through no fault of his own, of course.

But then one day, thanks to science, doctors, and an extraordinary gift from a grieving family, I did get my daddy back.

I truly wish with all my heart that Emma could get her daddy back like I did. But, I hope that she realizes the stories and her own life itself keeps him alive in the hearts of those who loved him most.

As for the other entries, it gives me hope for a future filled with caring adults who want to make the world a better place not only for humans, but also for animals. They already understand that taking care of the Earth goes hand in hand with ensuring some of the world’s most beautiful animals will survive and thrive.

The students mentioned above also seem to recognize the importance of family and empathy.

It gives me hope that one day the holidays won’t revolve around mythical characters, material items, and going into serious debt to purchase said items.

One day, I hope it will be centered around gratefulness, love, family, and something that is shared year ‘round.

The material things only provide a fleeting moment of joy, because, as we’ve become accustomed to, we’re always looking for the next big package coming in the mail or browsing the aisles of the store to fill the voids.

People go hungry throughout the year, people can’t afford their medical bills throughout the year, people experience homelessness throughout the year, and so many other things a toy drive or a present just will not fix.

Maybe one day, love won’t be measured in gifts either. We don’t need a toy, home decor, or electronic devices to let someone know we care. One day, I hope all children will realize that the love of family, friends, and taking care of one another is far more important than anything else.

MDOT suspends work, offers tips for holiday travel

SEA COAST ECHO

‘Tis the season for holiday travel. With more vehicles on the highways, the Mississippi Department of Transportation (MDOT) wants to help keep your holidays merry and bright by limiting travel delays caused by highway construction and offering a few holiday travel tips.

MDOT will suspend all interstate and four-lane highway construction during peak Christmas and New Year’s travel times. All road construction requiring lane closures will stop December 24 and resume on January 3. The closures will provide maximum travel capacity and minimal construction delays for holiday travelers.

“Although no highway construction work will be occurring across the state, motorists should be aware that some lane closures will remain in place,” said Brad White, MDOT Executive Director. “These lane closures are there to protect motorists, and MDOT urges drivers to always treat these areas as active work zones, even though workers may not be present.”

No matter your Christmas or New Years destination, safety should be your top priority. MDOT offers these tips for safe driving this Holiday sea-

“It was a great event,” Community Unity President Clarence Hall said. “The kids had a great time, and the officers really stepped up. The kids all had $100 gift cards, and of course, there was a little bit of over-spending, and I had planned to pay the extra at the register, but the officers did it themselves. We couldn’t be more thankful.”

Participating agencies included the Waveland Fire Department, Waveland Police Department, Bay St. Louis Fire Department, Department of Marine Resources and Mississippi Highway Patrol. Moss Towing, Tire Spot, Smoke & Ale and Da Kitchen sponsored the event.

“I really want to thank our sponsors,” Hall said. “They helped make these kids’ Christmas.”

Coast Electric celebrates ‘Operation Round Up’ grant recipients

SEA COAST ECHO

Coast Electric Power Association last week hosted a “Celebration Day” for its Operation Round Up Grant recipients.

“Operation Round Up is a program that rounds up the bills of participating Coast Electric members to the nearest dollar,” according to Coast Electric’s website. “Contributions are used to fund programs that improve the quality of life in our communities. The program is designed to put 65 percent of donations into a community trust to fund grants for local charitable organizations and 10 percent is put into an endowment for future charitable giving.”

Last week’s celebration gave grant recipients an opportunity to share their stories of how Coast Electric members have made a difference in local communities by simply rounding up their monthly electric bills.

Among this year’s recipients were organizations such as CASA of Hancock County; 100 Men Hall; Disability Connection; Feeding the Gulf Coast; Gulf Coast Christian Women’s Job Corps/Magdalen House; Mississippi Coast Crime Stoppers; Mississippi Gulf Coast Buddy Sports; Dolly Parton’s Imagination Library; and many more.

A few facts about Operation Round Up:

Participating Coast Electric members have their bills rounded up to next dollar amount each month.

Of the money donated, 65 percent goes into a fund for charitable organizations that serve Coast Electric’s three-county service area of Harrison, Hancock and Pearl River counties. Those organizations can

The Twelve Days of Christmas

By C. GERALD RICHARDSON, D. MIN.

C. Gerald Richardson, D. Min.

Christians around the world are about to enter the season of Christmastide which has been popularized in the playful holiday song, “The Twelve Days of Christmas”. The season is set aside on the liturgical calendar of the church for the spiritual observance of the incarnation of God into our human world..

Of course, this is different from the secular observance of the season which has been in full swing since well before Thanksgiving (in some cases, even Halloween). Christmastide is a time of reflection. It reminds us that there are deep places in our human spirits which need to be nurtured. It affords us an opportunity to consider the priorities of life, look for ways to serve our communities in meaningful ways, and to embrace the power of love in the midst of conflicted people. This is a season to affirm the seemingly impossible dream which has inhabited the spirits of people across the ages. While it is a dream that is so far not fully realized, we do see evidence of it breaking through once in a while. There are examples of its possibility in various acts of kindness and generosity, and we long for its completion.

In the meantime, we go about our lives. We ponder the hope that is within us. We trust the grace that is offered to us. We live toward the faith which sometimes seems beyond us, but for which we long. We acknowledge our humanity, and we give thanks for the hope which resides beyond our limitations. Sometimes we look upon that humanity as a burden, or even a curse. Christmas reminds us that there is a spiritual aspect to our human condition which is a source of potential for life which is full, relationships which are affirming, and peace which is enduring.

The Christmas stories which are shared in the gospels of Matthew and Luke in the Christian scripture are written in the language and with the understanding of the people of the first century. The great strength of these stories is in the wonder, the joy, and the promise of a spirit of love which rests upon all of us. The tidings of comfort and joy which they proclaim speak to the deepest longings of the human heart. The season of Christmastide provides us an opportunity to consider these mysteries, to order our lives around them, to look into our inner selves and to be thankful. It is a blessing worth affirming.

MERRY CHRISTMAS!

AMR offers tips for safe holiday celebrations

SEA COAST ECHO

The holidays are here again, and as friends, family and co-workers gather to celebrate the season, American Medical Response (AMR) is reminding partygoers that safety should remain top of mind. According to staggering data from the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA), in 2019, one person was killed every 52 minutes from a drunk-driving crash. In addition to the dangers presented by alcohol and drug use, the United States is still facing rising hospitalizations and infection rates from the COVID-19 pandemic.

AMR offers these tips for celebrating safely this holiday season. Schedule a virtual party. In-person gatherings with family or friends from different households pose a big risk. Instead, host a celebratory gathering online. Host a household celebration. Rather than inviting guests to your home, invite those in your household to join in on the fun. Dress up in festive clothing and cook a holiday-themed meal together.

Protect those not eligible for vaccination. Young children and select groups are not eligible for vaccination due to their age or underlying health conditions. Protect friends or family members in these groups by getting vaccinated and using precaution when inviting guests to your home.

Evaluate the risk. If you or a member of your family are not yet vaccinated, or you have children who are not yet eligible for the vaccine, you should reconsider hosting a gathering. Also, reconsider your plans if you reside in an area currently experiencing a surge in cases, will be traveling to a high-risk community, or have invited guests from a high-risk community.

If you do decide to invite guests to your holiday gathering, AMR recommends taking as many precautions as possible.

Remember alternative beverages. For guests who may not want to indulge or for designated drivers, remind them to bring their own non-alcoholic beverage options.

Keep your guests safe. If anyone has overindulged, make sure they have a safe ride home.

Report drunk drivers. If you suspect someone on the road could be drunk, call 911 immediately.

Don't let friends drive drunk. If one of your friends has had too much to drink, don't let them get behind the wheel. Take their keys and help to find them a safe ride home.

Limit the number of attendees. By keeping your guest list small, you allow people to maintain 6 feet of social distance. Also, consider the habits of those you are inviting. Individuals who do not consistently adhere to social distancing guidelines, mask use, handwashing and other preventative behaviors pose a greater risk to you and your family.

For more information on holiday safety, visit www.NHTSA.gov.

the right-of-way, which they're actually not supposed to be in the right-of-way. So you've got temporary banners and signs that are actually in violation of your own code right now, today. You've also got about 40 signs that are abandoned. So, when you take that as a whole, over 60 percent of the signs in that corridor do not meet your regulations. So, that starts to speak to an enforcement issue."

Mouch also suggested some easier projects for the city to complete such as light pole repainting, public art installation, way finding, and the enforcement of landscaping and design standards.

Way finding, she said, is creating a consistent and directional theme to effectively guide people through the corridor.

Bert Kuyrkendall with Orion spoke about the mobility of the corridor.

One enhancement would be enabling people to travel safely through the corridor by means other than a vehicle, he said.

He said there could be potential for bicycle or golf cart paths and looking for ways to connect the neighborhoods, parks, coastline, and downtown Waveland to the corridor.

That could be accomplished with a "side path," or "bike boule-wards" on low-speed streets.

Currently, Kuyrkendall said, the city does not have a lot of crosswalks nor does it have pedestrian signals at the intersections to safely accommodate pedestrians.

With regards to "driveway cuts," Kuyrkendall said, it's a "problem" having a lot of them close together.

"It presents a lot of conflict points, it's not safe for drivers, it's definitely not safe for walking or biking on the side path or walking on the sidewalk because there's cars coming and going and it continuously breaks up that pedestrian experience," he said. None of the curb cuts are connected to each other, Kuyrkendall said.

"So, that just comes down to a coding issue," he said. "What can happen in the code that enables or prescribes shared access drives and cross connections to reduce the number of curb cuts."

Oliver Seabolt with Orion spoke about some long-term goals for the city.

"What we're trying to do here is actually come up with a vision that actually speaks to what the culture of Waveland should be or what you want it to be," he said.

Seabolt showed a rendering of improvements that specifically addresses the intersection of Hwy. 603 and Hwy. 90.

"We heard a lot of comments about this intersection," he said. "Why hasn't the hotel been taken down? Why is the Rite Aid still sitting there? We want some restaurants. We'd love to have a nice hotel that brings people to Waveland to spend their money here."

The rendering included a potential chain hotel at the location of the old Rite Aid with parking in the back, so visitors aren't staring at a parking lot when they enter the interaction, Seabolt said.

It also included landscape enhancements in the medians, which could include native plants and a pedestrian network and turning the retention ponds into more of a feature.

He said that the city could also look at its design codes to promote a different type of development.

Barber ended the presentation explaining some strategies.

"On the clean part, dealing with the signs, there's code enforcement there," Barber said. "Let's get the abandoned signs down. Making sure there's a vacant property inventory. The tools are available to clean the corridor."

The second set of strategies involve connecting and would require cooperation with MDOT, Barber said. Kuyrkendall met with MDOT officials to discuss some of the proposals such as implementing a side path, enhancing way finding signage, and creating pedestrian crossings.

"The cross access, the curb cuts, providing for bicycle parking have to do with updating the zoning code or design standards, ensuring that sites are planned well," Barber said.

As far as future major redevelopments, Barber said, the city could look into TIFs or Tax Increment Financing that would encompass the corridor.

"Whereby when property does redevelop, you can capture a funding source to offset the costs or to provide the costs of some of these infrastructure improvements that we're talking about," he said.

Barber suggested that the city start with cleaning the corridor.

"All these concepts have to be vetted, these are ideas that we formulated based on our interaction with you all over the last week and before that," he said. "Once we get a set of comments back or comment period concludes, we'll adjust what we've got here accordingly."

Once the strategies have been prioritized, Barber said, Orion will present the city a finalized plan.

Meet Vinnie.

This sweet guy came to us via Animal Control, who responded to a call regarding a dog in distress, believed to be injured, (possibly struck by a vehicle). Thankfully, his injuries were minimal, and thanks to excellent vet care and TLC, Vinny is now healed and ready to join his forever family. This handsome, brindle boy is a 3 year old Boxer/American Staffordshire Terrier mix who is goofy, playful, and loving. He is one smart fella, too, and knows basic commands. He is great with other friendly dogs, and but has yet to meet any kids while at the shelter. Vinny, aka The Vin Man, loves to be outdoors and looks forward to long walks and playtime in our doggie exercise yard. We are seeking an active single person, couple or family with older children for sweet Vinny. He will bring years of joy, love and friendship to his new people.

If you are interested in meeting Vinny, please stop by the shelter during visiting hours, Mon-Fri 10am-3pm (Tues 12pm-3pm). Please bring your dog(s) and kids along for the visit to ensure compatibility.

CUTTER & TYLER LEAD 2021 ALL-SEA COAST ECHO GRIDIRON SQUAD

BY JOSEPH W. GEX, II
STAFF WRITER

As the 2021 high school football season began, the dark cloud of COVID-19 hung heavily over players, coaches, school administration, parents, fans, and, well, just about everyone involved in a 'Friday Night Under The Lights' production.

However, as the season kicked off on August 27, the pandemic worries seemed to take a backseat to the action on the field. Every Friday night, the Bay High Tigers, Hancock Hawks, Pass Christian Pirates, and Saint Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws took to the gridiron with dreams of hoisting a state championship trophy. In the end, only the Tigers, Pirates, and Rocks got a chance with a trip to the playoffs. And, the Tigers lasted until the second round of the Class 4A state playoffs where they were beaten by the eventual state champion Columbia.

nally faded in the night sky, Pass Christian had placed nine members on the first team followed by Bay High with seven, Saint Stanislaus six and Hancock with five. Here is a look at the first team offense and defense selections and the Players of the Year.

OFFENSE

Each team ran the ball extremely well this year and had a featured runner in their ground game. There were two 1,000-yard rushers in the area with two more that finished just outside that milestone. The 2021 Sea Coast Echo Offensive Player of the Year is Bay High running back Noah Cutter.

2021 Offensive Player of the Year - Bay High running back Noah Cutter

He joins a rare company as a multiple winner of the award. Cutter becomes just the third player to repeat as a Player of the Year behind former Saint Stanislaus quarterbacks Dylan Favre and Myles Brennan. Favre is the only three time winner (2007-09) while Brennan was honored twice (2014 and 2016).

Cutter, 6'1" 220-lbs, carried the ball 188 times for 1,282 yards and 16 touchdowns. He had six 100-yard games along with catching 15 passes for 254 yards and three touchdowns. He was also named All-Division 8-4A and first team Mississippi Association of Coaches (MAC) All-State Class 4A.

Cutter commented, "Every Friday night, we gave it our all. Our coaching staff helped inspire us each week. I am looking forward to seeing what these younger players can do when their time comes to take the field."

Cutter is receiving interest from East Central Community College at this time. He added, "I have a strong desire to play football at the next level. I am going through the recruiting process and preparing to take a visit."

Joining Cutter on the first team are teammates RB Carmello Simpson, TE Terron Bedford, and OL Devin Gaspard. Simpson, a 5'9" 150-lb junior, rushed for 994 yards and 12 touchdowns on 160 carries and caught 10 passes for 190 yards and a touchdown. Bedford, a 6'4" 255-lb three-year starter, caught 13 passes for 133 yards and three touchdowns while also grading out at 90% as a blocker. Gaspard, a 6' 293-lb senior, graded out 92% for the season.

These players helped the Bay High Tigers to a 8-4 overall record and second round berth in the Class 4A state playoffs.

The Hancock Hawks placed three members on the first team offense including OL Ryan Ladner, OL Da'Kyre Smith, and RB Pierre Fowler.

Smith, a 6'1" 260-lb three-year starter, helped clear the way for Hancock and graded out at 88% for the season. Ladner, a 6' 240-lb three-year starter, played all along the line at center, guard, and tackle and still managed to grade out at 89% for the season. Fowler, a 5'7" 135-lb, got to follow the path laid out for him by Smith and Ladner. He rushed 103 times for 644 yards and nine touchdowns while catching five passes for 65 yards and a touchdown.

This trio helped spark Hancock to a 3-9 overall record.

The Pass Christian Pirates were represented on the first team offense by QB Kam White, WR Terry Patton, WR Anthony James, and OL Drake Pond.

White, a 5'9" 155-lb dual threat, threw for 1,187 yards and 8 touchdowns on 109-for-182 passing and rushed for 969 yards and 16 touchdowns on 146 carries. His performance in 2021 earned him an invitation to play in the Bernard Blackwell All-Star Classic. Patton, a 5'10" 175-lb two-year starter, caught 40 passes for 475 yards and 5 touchdowns. James, a 5'7" 145-lb wideout, caught 28 passes for 314 yards and 3 touchdowns. Pond, a 6'3" 265-lb three-year starter, was the anchor of the Pirate offensive line and was named second-team All-State for Class 4A by MAC.

The Saint Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws had three players named to the first team offense including RB Davien Lagarde, OL Joe Bradford, and K Evan Noel.

Brennan reaffirms his commitment to LSU

BY JOSEPH W. GEX, II
STAFF WRITER

LSU quarterback and former Saint Stanislaus All-American reaffirmed his commitment to play football at Louisiana State University on December 16 after speaking with newly hired head football coach Brian Kelly. He exited the portal later that day.

Brennan had entered the transfer portal on November 1 after the school had parted ways with former head coach Ed Orgeron in an amicable agreement during the season.

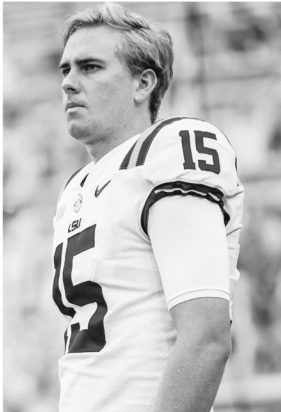

Brennan was rumored to have been on the campus of the University of Southern Mississippi recently conducting a visit but that report was unsubstantiated.

Brennan, a 2017 Saint Stanislaus graduate and #96 ranked player by ESPN, led the Rock-A-Chaws to two consecutive appearances in the Class 4A state championship game in 2014 and 2015. He was named a Under Armour All-American and is the only Elite 11 finals participant from Mississippi having completed the quarterback training regimen ranked #2 in 2016.

He signed with LSU on National Signing Day in 2017 and spent time backing up Danny Etling and Joe Burrow at LSU winning an SEC and National Championship in 2019.

Brennan, a 6’4” 210-lb right-handed quarterback, began the 2020 season as the undisputed starter but suffered a freak season-ending injury of a torn abdominal muscle in the third game of the season against Missouri. Despite the injury that occurred in the early part of the game, Brennan threw for 430 yards and four touchdowns. Max Johnson finished the 2020 season.

Brennan was battling Johnson for the starting nod through fall camp for the 2021 season before breaking his left arm (non-throwing) shortly before the first game. Johnson entered the transfer portal shortly after LSU hired Kelly as head coach.

In this three games in 2020, Brennan threw 1,112 yards and 11 touchdowns. In his career at LSU, Brennan has thrown for 1,712 yards and 13 touchdowns.

Brennan will not play in the Texas Bowl. LSU now has three scholarship quarterbacks on the roster including Brennan, freshman Garret Nussmeier, and 2021 signee Walker Howard along with walk-ons Matt O’Dowd and Tavion Faulk. Brennan has one year of eligibility remaining.

It seemed like a mad rush to the Christmas break since the Thanksgiving holiday. Last week, several area teams were getting in basketball and soccer games during the exam week.

Now, the only holiday basketball action will happen at the Bay High Christmas tournament with Bay High and Pass Christian while the Hancock girls team will participate in the Biloxi Christmas tournament. All soccer teams will take the holiday break to rest, recover and prepare for their respective division races in the New Year.

four-year starter, was playing his first season at running back in 2021. He rushed 186 times for 1,403 yards and 13 touchdowns and caught 5 passes for 90 yards and a touchdown. His rushing totals were ranked #2 in Class 3A in Mississippi and in the top 20 regardless of classification. Lagarde was named Division 8-3A Offensive MVP and first team All-State Class 3A.

Bradford, a 6’ 280-lb four-year starter, anchored the Rock offensive line and graded out 95% and was named All-State Class 3A.

Noel, a 6’ 150-lb freshman, was 26-of-30 on PATs, 6-for-9 on field goals with the longest field goal in Mississippi of 50 yards, and had 50 kickoffs for 2,765 yards and 22 touchbacks.

Cutter ended, “I love football in this area and I wish the young players who are preparing to take the next step for their respective programs all the best.”

Honorable mention selections on offense included OL Harley Blanton (Pass Christian), OL Fulton Ascherl (Saint Stanislaus), OL Ziron Brown (Bay High), RB Cameron Miller (Hancock), QB Alex Fabra (Saint Stanislaus), RB Jacquez Alexander (Pass Christian), WR Ja’Kobe Cameron (Saint Stanislaus), WR Canye Bankston (Saint Stanislaus), WR Todd Dedeaux (Hancock), WR Ethan Galloway (Bay High), and K Fisher DeCamp (Bay High).

DEFENSE

The defensive units in the area had a bevy of talented head hunters looking to thwart any opposing offenses’ entry into the endzone. Leading the way for the 2021 All-Sea Coast Echo team is Defensive Player of the Year Ryan Tyler of Saint Stanislaus.

Tyler, a 6’3” 235-lb three-year starter at linebacker, was a coach on the field for the Rocks. Tyler recorded 103 total tackles with 31 solos, 16 tackles for loss, 7 sacks, 3 quarterback hurries, 3 pass break-ups, an interception, forced fumble and fumble recovery. His steady and consistent weekly performances earned him All-Division 8-3A and second team All-State Class 3A honors.

Tyler stated, “While we did not end up with a great record or the record we wanted, we did play for each other and our beloved school. It was the trademark of this team, we played because we loved the game and loved each other. I was honored to call the defense the last two seasons and I feel I have left my mark on this program for others to strive for.”

Tyler is hoping to play next year as Belhaven University, Copiah-Lincoln, Jones, and Mississippi Gulf Coast Community College all are showing interest.

Joining Tyler on the first team are teammates DL Jacob Bradford and AP Ja’Kobe Cameron. Bradford, a 6’3” 245-lb two-year starter, recorded 85 total tackles with 27 solos, 16 tackles for loss, 6 sacks, 3 pass break-ups, and 3 forced fumbles. Bradford was named second team Class 3A All-State.

Cameron, a 6’1” 175-lb athlete, wowed the crowd wherever he was on the field. He caught 38 passes for 626 yards and 8 touchdowns, had 15 kickoff returns for 292 yards, 4 punt returns for 44 yards, and tallied 46 total tackles with 24 solos, a tackle for loss, two interceptions with one returned for a touchdown, 3 pass break-ups, and a fumble recovery.

These players helped the Rocks to a 4-6 overall record and a ninth consecutive trip to the playoffs.

Bay High was represented on the defense by DL Larry Lee, LB Carson Moran, and DB Tysen Hawkins. Lee, a 5’7” 226-lb nose guard, recorded 35 total tackles with 24 solos, two tackles for loss, and 4 sacks. tion during the next eighty years.

Another Kellar relative, Frank Kellar, was elected to the Hancock County Board of Supervisors and served from 1948 to 1956. Sadly, he died of a gunshot wound to his head in a tragic hunting accident while looking for game along Turtle Skin Creek. His wife, Samantha Kellar, was appointed to serve the rest of his term of office from 1956-1959.

The first or original Corinth Baptist Church was established in 1920. Half of the congregation lived in nearby Gainesville. The pastor would perform baptisms in the nearby Turtle Skin Creek. In 1947 Albert McQueen promoted the creation of a new Baptist church to be located in the center of town that would be named Santa Rosa Baptist Church.

At one gathering he announced his plan and publicly put fifty cents in a fruit jar to start a donation campaign. The folks who lived in the center of Santa Rosa split from the remaining Gainesville congregation in the Corinth Church.

The Kellar family decided to attend the Santa Rosa Baptist Church.

Santa Rosa is located just over the Hancock County/Pearl River County boundary line. During 1908-1966 alcoholic beverages were not sold legally in the state. Yet in Santa Rosa a healthy cluster of taverns evolved. One group of five barrooms flourished on old Highway 11 between the center of town and the East Pearl River that were granted licenses to sell liquor in Hancock County. These honky-tonk watering holes included Shorty’s Tavern, the Halfway Club, the Prentiss Club, the Lamp Post, and the County Line Barroom. In downtown Santa Rosa two other taverns were available for the nearby thirsty citizens of both counties named Ike Frierson Club and the Green Lizard.

According to Irma Frierson her uncle, Sheriff Ed Kellar, maintained law and order along this strip of bars on Highway 11. However, in1936, afer Ed Kellar left the post of county sheriff to join the Hancock County Board of Supervisors, the new sheriff who was from Bay St. Louis did not effectively patrol this area. Consequently, this cluster of nightclubs became a “no response zone,” and the neighborhood deteriorated at night into lawless chaos. Patrons got injured and/or shot in nightly brawls. The peaceful, religious citizens of Santa Rosa lobbied the county and state to no avail for relief, wishing to return this zone to law and order.

The situation was so bad that the pastor of the Corinth Baptist Church felt inspired to wage a publicity campaign on behalf of the town and his congregation to rid the community of this evil state of affairs. In sermons to his congregation, Sunday after Sunday, the minister urged the town to lobby the county to revoke the liquor licenses of these bars. Tensions mounted in Santa Rosa because these commercial outlets were the livelihood of some of its citizens. One Sunday, two armed men stood up during one such sermon and verbally threatened the pastor with bodily harm if he continued his crusade and actually pointed loaded guns at him. From that day forward the minister had to be escorted to the church from his home on Sundays by two police motorcycles, one in front of him and one behind. The matter was finally settled in 1967 when NASA removed everybody and all businesses from the town to create the NASA Buffer Zone.

After the creation of the NASA Buffer Zone, the Corinth Baptist Church was sufficiently compensated that the building was moved to Nicholson. Likewise, the Santa Rosa Baptist Church facility and its contents were donated to the Waveland Baptist Church. Nowadays, it is being used by the Christian Women’s Job Corps. After all expenses were paid, there was $36,373.53 left over of the compensation money, which was put in a trust for the Mississippi Baptist Foundation. Irma Frierson reports, “That fund has grown to $79,673.63 since then. Each year the interest is donated to the Cooperative Program as per the request of the former pastor, the late Reverend Richard Lubert, to spread the “Good News.”

In the 1950’s Santa Rosa had three general stores, two selling dry goods and groceries, and the other, the Jack Brunson Store, offering groceries and produce. Incidentally, Jack Brunson was the Justice of the Peace, and held court in the store after hours. Santa Rosa had about two hundred residents at this time. Although the town had no resident physicians, Dr. Woodward and Dr. Martin from Picayune and Dr. Fountain from Bay St. Louis made house calls to this farming community.

In our next column the accomplishments of Dolph Kellar and his son, Tim Kellar will be presented.

BASKETBALL

On Tuesday, December 14, the Bay High Tigers swept a pair of games with the East Central Hornets.

The Lady Tigers won 44-1. Scoring details were not available.

In the boys game, the Tigers (4-12) squeezed out a 55-52 victory over the Hornets.

The two teams battled to a 12-12 after one period. East Central pushed a lead to 23-13 by the 2:35 mark only to see Bay High end the period with a 8-4 run to close the lead to 27-21 at intermission.

The Tigers opened the third period with an 8-0 run to take a 29-27 lead.

The teams ran back and forth for a wild third period with East Central leading 44-40 at the end of the period.

The Tigers surged again in the fourth period to close the game with a 15-8 run and the win.

Bay High head coach Derrick Willis commented, “It feels really good to get this off our back, not winning in 28 days. Our seniors, Kadin Walker and Dereion Galloway, did a good job of getting the underclassmen in step tonight. We will use this holiday to get ready for a run in January and February.”

Xzavier McPherson had 23 points and Walker had 15 to lead the Tigers.

On Friday, the Tigers split a pair of games with PRC. The Lady Tigers (11-5) won 45-21 while the Tigers fell 42-41.

The Hancock Hawks swept a pair of games on Tuesday against the Long Beach Bearcats. The Hawks (10-4) won 48-39 and the Lady Hawks (9-4) won 49-26. The Hawks also picked up a win against Kosciusko 43-24 and lost to Tupelo 63-39.

Pass Christian dropped two games to Gulfport on Tuesday. The Pirates lost 63-49 and the Lady Pirates fell 49-42. The Lady Pirates also dropped a game with Harrison Central on Friday 40-29.

The Rocks (4-10, 2-0) picked up a 47-40 win over Perry Central on the road on Friday evening and dropped a game to Moss Point on Saturday. Game details were not available.

SOCCER

The Bay High Tigers split a pair of games with Stone on Friday evening.

In a game where both teams employ a high intensity pressure offense and a meat grinding defense in the middle, it was a ricochet that slipped past the Tomcat goalie that proved to be the difference.

Both squads battled each other in the throughout the game with physicality that resulted in five cards being issued.

The two teams were knotted at halftime 0-0.

With 14:32 left to play in regulation, Bay High pushed the ball through the middle of the Tomcat defense and a scrum formed in the front of the goal. A ricochet from an attempted clearing shot came of Alex Harris’ right foot that slipped into the net to give Bay High a 1-0 lead.

The two teams frantically tried to push the ball the remainder of the half but the Tiger defense successfully held off the Tomcat shots for the win.

Stone head coach Pat Harrison commented, “Tonight’s game featured two teams that play a high intensity pressure style on both ends of the field. We knew that it would be a dogfight between us tonight. Bay High has a big center back that is difficult to get around and two center midfielders that drop into defense which made our angles to the goal smaller. We responded to that challenge and kept the game tight which I am very proud of our guys. We another shot at them at home after the New Year and we look forward to that opportunity.”

The loss drops Stone to 4-11 overall and 2-1 in division play.

Bay High head coach Kelly Ross stated, “We are excited to get to the win tonight. It was a physical game but we knew that coming in and we accepted the challenge. We still have to face them again and we need to be focused for that as it will be a key division game for both of us. We will take a break and rest. There are things that we can improve on and we will use our practice time to work on that.”

The Tigers move to 10-4-1 overall and 3-0 in division play.

The Stone Lady Tomcats employed pressure and confidence throughout 80 minutes of soccer on Friday night at Bay High to record a 4-0 shutout victory over the Lady Tigers.

Stone head coach Carissa Harrison commented, “It has taken us a while to find the confidence to believe we can play the way we did tonight. We displayed confidence throughout the game and applied pressure on both ends of the field. I am very pleased with how we played heading into the break.”

The Lady Tomcats led 2-0 at halftime and doubled the score with goals at the 17:35 and 3:41 marks of the second half.

Morgan Pickering scored twice while Baelyn Smith and Kendall Burn each scored once. Mary Grace Batson added three assists in the win.

The victory pushed Stone’s record to 9-6-1 overall and 3-0 in division play.

The Rocks (9-2, 1-1) picked up a non-division 4-0 win against Pass Christian on Saturday morning before the heavy rains invaded the area.

Tanner Reinike scored twice while Brayden Leyrer and Keegan Leverett each scored once in the win.

SSC head coach Zach Villarubia stated, “This is a good win going into the break. We are getting players back from injury and we expect to be at 100% when January comes with the hope of making a strong run in the division after the New Year.”

In other action, Bay High swept Moss Point on Tuesday in two varsity games. The Lady Tigers (11-6-1) won 10-0 and the Tigers (11-7-1) won 8-0.

Hancock (6-6-2) lost to Harrison Central 4-0 on Tuesday.
